

From: Jackie Meese
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/24/02 11:23am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I believe it is a very poor choice to accept the current settlement in the Microsoft case, as nothing has been done to remove the ability of Microsoft to abuse its monopoly, something that has been judged to be true. Basically, the current settlement allows Microsoft to continue to exhibit the behavior that has been found to be illegal, with merely a slap on the wrist. A solution needs to be found that will help consumers and other companies more freedom to do with their computers as they wish, and not what Microsoft has forced other companies to do with computers.

--

Jackie Meese Institute for Distance and Distributed Learning, Va Tech
Phone: 231-3682 3027 Torgersen Hall MailCode:0445 <http://www.iddl.vt.edu/>
Education is the change in behavior that occurs as the result of interaction with events in one's environment.